Sekumpul – The Complex of Seven Points Waterfalls

50 meters waterfalls in Sekumpul

In Balinese Language, the word of “Sekumpul” means “a bunch”, which it relates to existence of seven waterfalls in the complex and make tourists often called Sekumpul as seven waterfall points.

The seven waterfalls are not lined up all but at points that are close to each other and can be reached in one-way). The main point, the most favorite spot by visitors, there are two waterfalls that line up on the 50-meters cliff with heavy water flow.

In rainy season, the main point offers a unique phenomenon of both waterfalls. One waterfall has clear water because it come directly from natural spring, while another is brown because it flows from river.

The point like so stunning because high trees surrounds and add into green scenery that impress eyes. Many visitors often take advantage of view between waterfall and green nature as photo background.

Trek to Sekumpul Waterfall Point

Sekumpul Bali Trekking

Getting out the car doesn't mean you may directly see beauty of Sekumpul Waterfall Point. Every visitor must trek along route from parking area to get the point.

The route will require you to go down the stairs, walk through the winding footpath, and cross the small river. You are expected to wear sport footwear for a comfort when trekking particularly when going down slippery and tilted stairs.

Trekking is indeed tiring but also exciting because you will see green natural sceneries of local community's plantations, which are dominated by fruit trees namely: Durian, Rambutan, and Banana. The cool atmosphere will calm your mind along the route.

In addition, in a few parts, there are also rice fields and hilly view which they may also impress eyes. When sound of rushing water can be heard loud, it means the waterfall is close.
